

SOME OF THE WORLD'S PERMANENT BONSAI / PENJING COLLECTIONS

Compiled by Robert J. Baran

last updated 05/10/2025

A group of dwarfed and potted trees or compositions from onsite-creation, purchase, donation, and/or loan which are formally displayed for extended periods of time in a stable location and accessible by special invitation or to the general public at either no cost or for a reasonable fee and, preferably, including some labels, other educational material and/or guides to enhance the visitors' leisurely appreciation of these specimens. The collection may be privately-owned, part of a commercial venture, operated by a non-profit body, or under the authority of a governmental agency. Because of the quality of trees offered, many commercial establishments are included.

Please check hours, availability and any admission fees before physically visiting.

Contributions, so far, from Tim Riley of Internet Bonsai Club Forum, from Shibui and Evan of the Australian Bonsai Forum, from Slow Learner of Bonsai Nut Forum, from Michael Hagedorn of <http://www.crataegus.com>, from Caroll Dewar Hermann, from Jogaila Mackevicius, from Alejandro Bedinin G., from Meagan Hanna, from Ms. Corazon Ong, and from Tamara Belousova.

There was also a bonsai collection from Ken and Ann Norman at Leonardslee Gardens, West Sussex, England since before 2002. When those Gardens were sold in 2010 to a private individual, access was closed and the collection's fate is unknown.

The whereabouts of the bonsai collection formerly at Minter Gardens in Chilliwack, British Columbia, Canada (1980-2013) is similarly unknown.

The status of the collection in the Bonsai House at the University of Central Florida Arboretum in Orlando, Florida is unknown.

Blue Oak Nursery in Modesto, CA is now listed as Permanently Closed. The status of its collection of over 300 trees is unknown.

The Pluit Bonsai Centre at Jl. Taman Pluit Putra Putri, Jakarta Utara, Indonesia is said to have been torn down by the government in 2014.
